

Senate OKs $2.20 Hourly Wage Base

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted to boost the minimum hourly wage to $2.20, a move that could bring bigger paychecks to millions of workers and more labor support for Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern.

The increase from the present minimum of $1.60 was the largest single pay hike in history. It came after McGovern made a special trip from his vacation retreat in South Dakota to cast his vote.

The bill extends coverage to 7.4 million additional workers, including 1.2 million domestic servants, 1 million chain store employees and 4.9 million federal, state and local government employees.

It now goes to a House Senate conferees to reconcile differences between the Senate version and one approved earlier by the House which provides a $2.00 minimum pay scale.

The Senate approved the measure by a vote of 65 to 27 Thursday night after defeating the Nixon administration's proposal for a $2.00 minimum by a 47 to 46 vote.

Backers of McGovern hoped his vote would improve his image with labor. The $2.20 minimum was a key goal of the AFL-CIO in this legislative session. McGovern was not endorsed by the AFL-CIO executive council.

The bill passed the Senate after two amendments postponed the effective date of the $2.20 minimum to two years, instead of one, and eliminated 1 million employees in retail and service establishments doing less than $250,000 annual business.

As approved, the minimum wage would jump from $1.60 to $2.00 for most non-farm workers 60 days after enactment, and to the full $2.20 in two years.

The present minimum of $1.30 for workers on large farms would be raised to $2.20 in three years. The bill also repeals exemptions which now prevent many workers from getting overtime pay.

Sens. Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., and Robert Taft, R-Ohio, sponsors of the administration's bill, said the Democrats' proposal was inflationary and would undermine Nixon's economic stabilization effort.

IRA Guerrillas Blast Train In Ireland

Locomotive, 10 Cars Derailed By Explosion

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — IRA guerrillas blew up a freight train early today and clashed with British troops and Protestant extremists across Northern Ireland.

The train's locomotive and 10 cars plowed off the main line to Dublin when a 50-pound mine exploded near Lurgan, 20 miles southwest of Belfast. No one was hurt.

The railroad said the track was cut by a six-foot crater and would be fixed in two days.

The Irish Republican Army had made several unsuccessful attempts to blow up the rail line in recent months.

The army said gunfights erupted between Catholic guerrillas and Protestant vigilantes around the Shankhill Road area, a Protestant stronghold. One man was killed and another wounded.

His was the 451st confirmed death in three years of communal violence.

In Killen, 60 miles west of Belfast, terrorists planted a 100-pound bomb in a car, but some of the townspeople pushed the car into an open space and ran. The bomb went off two minutes later and wrecked the car, but the only other damage was half a dozen windows broken.

Several bombs exploded in other towns, but no major damage was reported.

Troops in Belfast claimed they hit a gunman in one of several skirmishes during the night. Another guerrilla was reported shot in an attack on a power station at Castlereagh, south of Belfast.

Labor Chiefs Will Support McGovern

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers President Leonard Woodcock says he and two AFL-CIO leaders plan a labor campaign drive in an effort to swing rank-and-file union support behind Sen. George McGovern, the Democratic presidential nominee.

Woodcock said Thursday that he will be joined on a labor campaign committee by Jerry Wurf, president of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, and Floyd Smith, president of the International Machinists and Aerospace Workers.

Woodcock's announcement came one day after AFL-CIO President George Meany led the labor federation's Executive Council to a 27-3 vote not to endorse either McGovern or President Nixon.

Smith, who has endorsed McGovern, voted with the majority in the Executive Council decision. Wurf, also a McGovern backer, voted against a position of neutrality.

Wurf said after the vote that it reflected "personal loyalties" within the AFL-CIO and was not a true index of support among union members for the Democratic ticket.

The AFL-CIO represents 13.6 million union members. Woodcock predicted that union organizations representing more than five million workers would campaign for McGovern.

Power Shortages, Pollution Abound

Heat Brings Crisis In East

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A steamy, stagnant air mass that has strained electric power supplies and caused pollution alerts remained anchored over the Eastern seaboard today with no relief expected for a few more days.

The National Weather Service forecast more temperatures in the high 80s to middle 90s, a situation which sapped the reserves of electric utilities and led to blackouts or brownouts in scattered areas Thursday.

The week-long heat wave over the populous East was blamed on a Bermuda high that stretched to the Mississippi River valley and pumped humid tropical air up from the Gulf.

With the listless air, pollutants tended to collect and increased to dangerous levels in some areas.

In the Pittsburgh area, a first stage pollution alert forced industry to cut back operations. Eye irritation and shortness of breath were common complaints, especially in the downtown section.

A pollution alert was extended through today in Washington, D.C.

Rain showers brought relief to the New York metropolitan area during Thursday evening, washing the air of many pollutants and dropping temperatures to the low 70s. The respite was expected to be brief.

A spokesman for the New York Power Pool said it borrowed from Ontario, Canada, again Thursday to provide a potential supply of 20 million kilowatts.

Consolidated Edison Co. cut back voltage 5 per cent in New York City and Westchester County for two hours in midafternoon to prevent a massive blackout after a major power link tripped out 70 miles north of the city.

The Philadelphia Electric Co. said that city's electrical demands set a record Thursday, but no breakdowns or difficulties were reported.

In the Washington area, the Potomac Electric Power Co. reported record output with electricity use up 10 per cent from last summer's peak.

Commonwealth Edison Co., which serves seven million customers in northern Illinois, reported a record 11,164,000 kilowatts issued between 1 and 2 p.m. CDT as the temperature hit 91 degrees.

Finally, the temperature reached 94 degrees in the southeastern Pennsylvania town of Chester Thursday, but it looked like Christmas.

Dozens of cartons of just-delivered artificial Christmas trees were stacked in front of a department store, causing traffic patrolman Walter Hoyle to note: "Cooler weather must be ahead."

He didn't say when.

Eagleton Finds Limelight Brings Some Disadvantages

WASHINGTON (AP) — A week after being thrust into national prominence as a vice presidential candidate, Sen. Thomas Eagleton says he worries about the effects of sudden fame. He also wonders if his unlisted phone number has been painted on a billboard.

Since last Friday when the Democratic national convention picked him as Sen. George McGovern's running mate, Missouri's junior senator has been from "Tom Who?" to "Tom Eagleton, the vice presidential nominee."

"The first change, and I suppose the most obvious one, is the constant presence of the Secret Service," Eagleton said in an interview.

"They're outside your house, they follow you when you go to lunch or go to the Senate floor to vote and they're with you when you go home at night."

"Then," he said, "there is the overnight change of going, literally overnight, from being a young and relatively unknown member of the U.S. Senate to being one of the better known senators."

The 42-year-old senator said that after a week of near-constant public exposure, it is apparent his candidacy will have an effect on his children, Terrence, 13, and Christina, 9.

"My son is a very impressionable teenager," Eagleton said. "I worry a bit that he might get the 'big head' because his father is now a national figure."

Mrs. Eagleton, the former Barbara Ann Smith, also has to cope with new demands, Eagleton said.

"My wife has been an excellent mother but she has never been in the national spotlight," he said. "And on last Sunday alone she was interviewed by three different periodicals to get the woman's point of view. This is also new to our family."

"The telephone has been ringing off the hook," he said, both in the office and at home.

"I have an unlisted number at home," he said, "but I feel like it's been published in big letters on a billboard because the phone just never stops."

U.S. Gross National Product Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The economy surged in the April-June quarter to the highest rate of expansion in more than six years while inflation slowed sharply, the government said today.

The Commerce Department said that the second-quarter Gross National Product, market value of the nation's goods and services, advanced at a fast 8.9 per cent pace in "real" terms, meaning economic growth with inflation subtracted.

On top of this, the rate of inflation as measured by GNP figures dropped to 2.1 per cent, the lowest since the days of President Nixon's wage-price freeze, and less than half of the 5.1 per cent rate that prevailed in the first three months of the year.

The 8.9 per cent growth rate compared with an upward-revised 6.5 per cent rise rate in the first quarter and it marked the highest rate of expansion of the economy since the fourth quarter of 1965.

The department said the increased GNP in dollar terms amounted to $29.9 billion compared with $31 billion in the previous quarter. With inflation figured in, the increase figured out to percentage rate of 11.2 per cent.

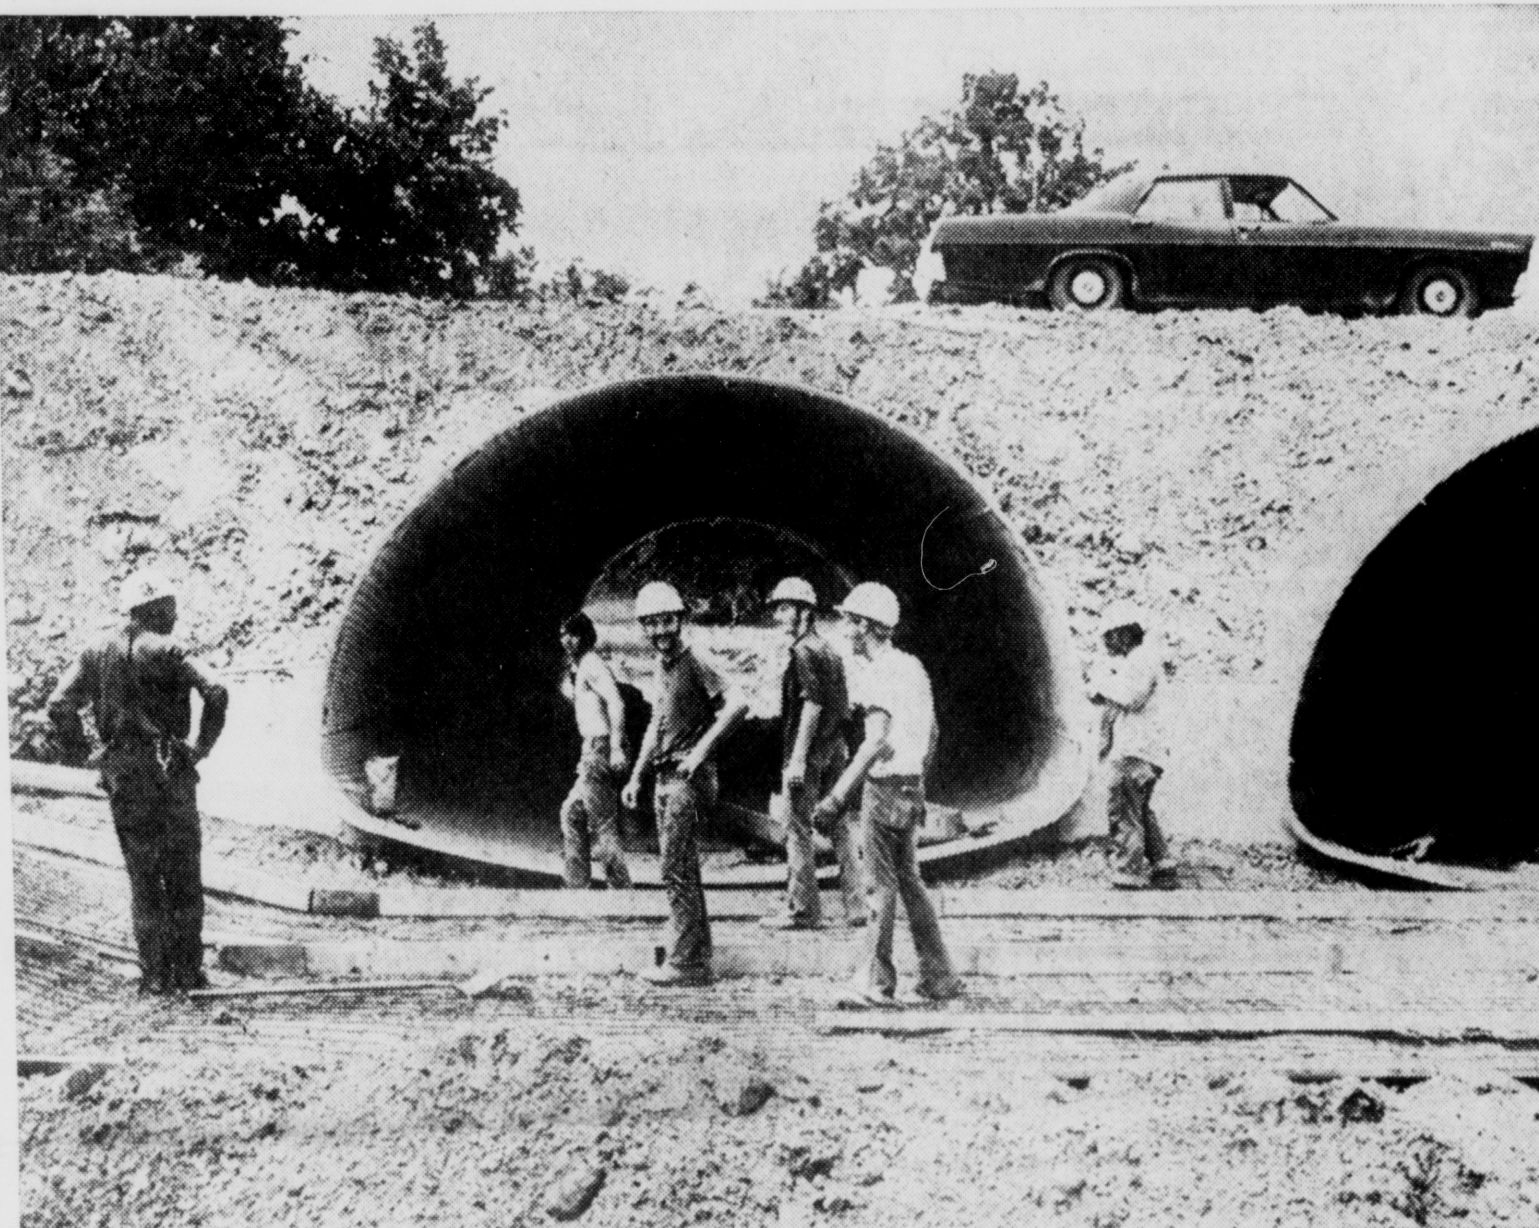

This brought GNP to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $1.139 trillion, the department said.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — While portions of the Atlantic Seaboard suffered through air pollution alerts, Los Angeles residents went blithely about their business, graphic evidence that one man's dirty air can be another's summer breeze.

It was generally a nice day Thursday in Los Angeles — the city whose name is synonymous in some minds with smog. Workers downtown could see the Santa Monica Mountains through the smog and the peak metropolitan zone content in the air hit a mild .08 part per million (ppm). The top carbon monoxide level was 11 ppm.

But four times this year and 21 times last year school children were kept indoors in some areas when ozone, an irritant gas associated with pollution, reached .35 ppm. That is approximately equivalent to the "oxidant" levels that brought air pollution alerts Thursday in the District of Columbia and Maryland and in Connecticut

Wednesday and early Thursday.

More than 12 times in the last two months in metropolitan Los Angeles carbon monoxide levels have soared to peak readings above 15 ppm, approximately similar to the eight-hour average of 16 ppm in Springfield, Mass., that brought a first-stage alert Wednesday.

Although an Associated Press survey Thursday seems to indicate that Los Angeles residents are old hands at coping with dirty air, it points up, more importantly, the diversity of air pollution alert levels and relief measures that exist across the nation.

Nader Blasts Corvair Report

Government Says Auto Was Safe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ralph Nader promises "to wake up engineers all over this country" with a scathing attack on a government report declaring the Corvair to be no more dangerous than comparable autos.

"You can't believe the counterrattack that's going to come on this," said Nader after reviewing the report released Thursday.

He is expected to launch his attack next week before the Senate Commerce Committee.

The Department of Transportation's report concluded "the handling and stability performance of the 1960-1963 Corvair does not result in an abnormal potential for loss of control or rollover and it is at least as good as the performance of some contemporary vehicles both foreign and domestic."

Nader called the report a contradictory whitewash and faulted the report for failing to carry what Nader called a significant passage in a list of recommendations submitted by a panel of outside experts.

The four-man panel of experts said the Corvair "is not more unstable or more likely to roll over than contemporary automobiles." But it added that "the panel recommends that owners of 1960-through-1963 Corvairs be advised that these vehicles may exhibit unusual handling characteristics under conditions of hard cornering."

Nader asked, "Are they going to follow up the recommendation by ordering General Motors to do so?"

Douglas Toms, director of the auto safety agency, was reported out of town and unavailable for comment. General Motors said the report "confirms our position on the handling and stability characteristics of these cars."

Area Near Dayton Loses Water Supply

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — More than 100,000 residents of Kettering, Centerville, Washington Township and part of Miami Township were faced today with the prospect of being without a water supply for five days to two weeks.

The problem was caused by a water main break Thursday that flooded a pumping station.

Montgomery County Sanitation Engineer Gene Cronk said he had asked the Red Cross to begin making arrangements for transporting water into the area.

Electric motors, pumps and valves were damaged by the flooding.

Cronk said the motors appear to be grounded, "but we're waiting until they dry out to see what's what. But if these motors are still grounded we're in trouble."

If that's the case, he said, even partial operations cannot be restored at the pumping station for about five days. And the small amount of water remaining in storage tanks won't last long, he said.

If the motors do work and partial pumping service is restored, Cronk added, it still will be "probably a week, maybe two, before we can get everything back in operation."

The sanitation department asked people in the affected area to use what little water is available for drinking only.

South Viet Offensive At Bong Son Stalls

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese command claimed today that its forces waging a new offensive on the central coast have captured the district town of Bong So, but informants in the field reported the government troops were still 500 yards outside the largely deserted town.

One informant in Binh Dinh Province said Saigon's infantrymen were still maneuvering close to Bong Son and encountering "only token resistance," but "at this point it's impossible to say whether the enemy has pulled out or is dug in for a fight." He said most of the town's residents had fled when government forces abandoned it to the North Vietnamese on April 29.

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, chief spokesman for the Saigon command, told newsmen that two battalions numbering about 1,000 men "recaptured the district town of Bong Son at 12:55 p.m. with no enemy resistance inside the town." He said they were making a house-to-house search to root out any enemy sappers and snipers.

Hien said helicopters landed a third battalion on the northwestern edge of the town and reported two small fights about a mile southwest of Bong Son.

The Saigon command said the 10,000-man drive was launched Wednesday to regain control of Bong Son and two other district towns in Binh Dinh, 200,000 inhabitants and a rich rice harvest. The command said the troops had encountered only light resistance thus far.

U.S. B52 bombers made 12 strikes in support of the South Vietnamese troops closing in on Bong Son, dropping 300 tons of explosives on North Vietnamese and Viet Cong positions.

The counteroffensive is the second in the three-month campaign that President Nguyen Van Thieu announced on June 19 to retake all territory lost to the North Vietnamese in the Communist offensive and to drive Hanoi's forces out of South Vietnam.

The first counteroffensive began June 28, with the recapture of Quang Tri, South Vietnam's northernmost province, as its objective.

Senate OKs $2.20 Hourly Wage Base

Paychecks Show Record Gain In June; Costs Up Slightly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs rose a relatively modest two-tenths of one per cent last month and purchasing power of the average American workers' paycheck showed the highest yearly gain on record, the government said today.

The rise in consumer prices, chipping two cents off the value of each $10 in June, was due to a sharp increase in food prices and lesser increases for used cars, homes and household services, the Labor Department said.

The June rise in living costs pushed the Consumer Price Index up to 125.0 of its 1967 base of 100. This meant it took $12.50 last month for every $10 worth of typical family purchases five years ago.

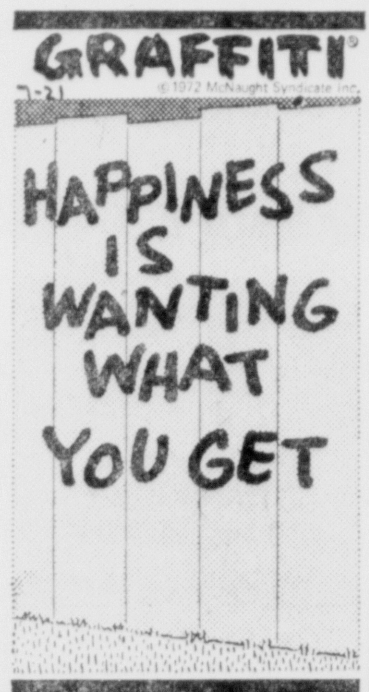

The report, by the department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, said the rise in living costs in the past year was 2.9 per cent, the first annual rise under 3 per cent in the past five years.

The bureau also reported that average earnings of some 50 million rank-and-file workers—more than half the nation's work force—rose 2.13 per cent to $135.39 for the month. This was due to a one-cent rise in hourly pay and a half-hour increase in the length of the average work week.

The average paycheck was up $7.82 or 6.1 per cent over the past year. After deductions for the rise in living costs over the year, the gain was 3.2 per cent or about $3.90 per week in purchasing power.

"This is the largest over-the-year increase in real earnings (purchasing power) for any June since the series became available on a monthly basis in 1964," the bureau said. It added that much of the rise in workers' purchasing power was due to lower 1972 federal income tax rates.

South Viet Offensive At Bong Son Stalls

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese command claimed today that its forces waging a new offensive on the central coast have captured the district town of Bong Son, but informants in the field reported the government troops were still 500 yards outside the largely deserted town.

One informant in Binh Dinh Province said Saigon's infantrymen were still maneuvering close to Bong Son and encountering "only token resistance," but "at this point it's impossible to say whether the enemy has pulled out or is dug in for a fight." He said most of the town's residents had fled when government forces abandoned it to the North Vietnamese on April 29.

Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien, chief spokesman for the Saigon command, told newsmen that two battalions numbering about 1,000 men "recaptured the district town of Bong Son at 12:55 p.m. with no enemy resistance inside the town." He said they were making a house-to-house search to root out any enemy sappers and snipers.

Hien said helicopters landed a third battalion on the northwestern edge of the town and reported two small fights about a mile southwest of Bong Son. The Saigon command said the 10,000-man drive was launched Wednesday to regain control of Bong Son and two other district towns in Binh Dinh, 200,000 inhabitants and a rich rice harvest. The command said the troops had encountered only light resistance thus far.

U.S. B52 bombers made 12 strikes in support of the South Vietnamese troops closing in on Bong Son, dropping 300 tons of explosives on North Vietnamese and Viet Cong positions.

The counteroffensive is the second in the three-month campaign that President Nguyen Van Thieu announced on June 19 to retake all territory lost to the North Vietnamese in the Communist offensive and to drive Hanoi's forces out of South Vietnam.

The first counteroffensive began June 28, with the recapture of Quang Tri, South Vietnam's northernmost province, as its objective.

Teamsters Urged To Vote For Nixon

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Vic Everett, president of Central Ohio Teamsters Local 413, urged his 11,000 members Thursday to vote for President Nixon in November.

He said he could not support positions taken by Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern.

TOPPED — Vicki J. Rutter, 17, Route 1, Laurelville, suffered a fractured jaw and minor injuries when the car she was driving went off Spangler Road and hit a tree. A passenger in the car, 6-year-old Rhonda Hoffman, was treated for chest pains, a hematoma to the right forehead and abrasions.

Four Injured In Accidents

Four persons were injured in two accidents investigated by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department Thursday.

Vicki K. Rutter, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Rutter, Route 1, Laurelville, suffered a fractured jaw, lacerations to her chin, left cheek, and right knee after she drove off Spangler Road 11 a.m. Thursday and crashed into a tree.

Also injured in the accident was a six-year-old passenger in her car, Rhonda Hoffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hoffman, Route 4, Circleville. She was treated for chest pains, bruise of the forehead and abrasions.

Deputy Warren Straley, who charged Miss Rutter in juvenile court with having no operator's license, said she was driving west on Spangler Road and had just driven through a narrow bridge about a half a mile from the junction of Jackson Road.

SHE apparently continued on the road surface for about 100 feet before losing control of the car in loose gravel. The auto slid into the left ditch, struck a farm fence and drove 57 feet before hitting a tree.

The car, owned by Hoffman according to the report, sustained extensive front end damage.

Three fence posts and 6 feet of fence, also owned by Hoffman, were destroyed.

Sheriff's Deputy J. Phillip Brown said a slow-moving farm tractor, attempting to make a left turn from County Road 511, was the indirect cause of a two-car accident almost a mile north of Marshall Road 8:05 p.m. Thursday.

Deputy Brown said a car driven by Larry G. Tolliver, 23, Route 1, Stoutsville, was driving south on County Road 511, when he was forced to stop for the tractor, the fourth or fifth car in a line.

John J. Seyfang, 50, 116 Town St., also driving south, was unable to stop his car in time and hit the rear of Tolliver's auto.

Three passengers in Tolliver's car were not hurt. They are Gary W. Tolliver, 26, 1006 S. Pickaway St.; Terry Barnes, 17, Dayton; and Larry Barnes, 17, Dayton.

Edna Brungs, 66, 405 E. Franklin St., was a passenger in Seyfang's auto and was not hurt.

Miss Louise Dowden, Route 2, is a surgical patient in Mt. Carmel Hospital West, Columbus, room 846.

Spec. 5 Sandra S. Greenlee is a surgical patient in Fort Benjamin Harrison Hospital, Indianapolis, Ind., ward 4. She is the daughter of Mrs. Harold Struckman, Route 2, Circleville.

Vocational Board Employs Clerk, Guidance Director For District

A clerk and guidance coordinator were employed Thursday by the Pickaway-Ross Joint Vocational School, both of whom were rated as "outstanding applicants" in the field of persons seeking those positions with the new vocational school.

The school board was able to employ the services of 35-year-old Raymond Pack, of Chillicothe, as the district's guidance director to set up vocational programs with counselors of the different high schools. A contract for the clerk-treasurer position was offered by Miss Mary Kunz.

Pack will leave his position with Ross County Schools where he directs a guidance program district-wide, to take the job offered at the vocational school. He was employed under a three-year contract at a salary of $14,800 per year.

"We were thrilled beyond words to get a man of his qualifications," PRJVS board president Nelson Stevens said. Stevens reported that Pack had received the Dwight L. Arnold Award in 1965, naming him the outstanding guidance counselor in the entire State of Ohio in 1965. He has been employed in Ross County for the past nine years and held his director post since 1966. He is currently working on his doctorate, completing additional studies at Ohio State University.

The new clerk-treasurer was assistant director of personnel at Veterans Hospital, Chillicothe, prior to accepting the vocational school post. Her contract was awarded from Aug. 1 to Dec. 31 in accordance with state law.

Board members also drafted an agreement to lease what is known as the Kern's Building in Kingston to be the temporary home of the vocational administrative offices until the school is completed. The agreement is to be examined by the county prosecutor before signing. It calls for the school board to take over the offices Aug. 1.

Resolutions were passed to provide authority for Paul Hydel, acting superintendent of the district until Aug. 1, when his contract goes into effect, to secure furniture for the offices on a rental basis and to have telephone service installed. Board members established office hours from 8:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. daily, Monday through Friday.

For the employees now hired, the board approved a hospitalization plan to pay the single rate for coverage under Blue Cross - Blue Shield, and authorized payment of mileage expense, at a rate of 10 cents a mile, for performance of official duties.

The current clerk-treasurer of the Chillicothe City Board of Education was employed to assist the new vocational school treasurer set up the books for the district.

Services will be 10:30 a.m. Monday at Zion United Methodist Church in Ashville with the Rev. John Currens officiating. Burial will be in Floral Hills Memory Gardens.

The current clerk-treasurer of the Chillicothe City Board of Education was employed to assist the new vocational school treasurer set up the books for the district.

Hydel, reporting on a meeting with the Ross County Board of Commissioners to discuss improvements on the Crouse Chapel Road, announced that the commissioners, the county engineer and highway department had studied the project and too initial steps to seek Appalachian funds to widen and straighten the roadway for the heavy traffic expected because of the school and the outdoor amphitheatre being built in that area.

THE architect advised the board that any delay in hiring a vocational school director would cause a delay in the scheduled opening of the school. The program has entered a critical stage, and without a director to work with these architects, could seriously hamper the building program.

The board recessed their Thursday night meeting subject to call within the next several days to interview selected director candidates for the post and employ one.

Since the State Board of Education dissolved the Laurelvile School District and revoked its charter, the PRJVS board has been operating with 10 members. Pickaway County Board of Education will select a third member of its number to fill the vacancy at its Aug. 3 meeting. The new member will not be granted voting privileges, however, until the state board acts in its meeting slated for Aug. 14.

A survey of the land to be purchased as the school site and title study has been completed, with all preliminary work showing "A-OK", according to Stevens. With the completion of a topography mapping of the area, the vocational board is expected to receive title to the property. Bids are to be let in December and groundbreaking scheduled for early 1973.

Four Injured In Accidents

Four persons were injured in two accidents investigated by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department Thursday.

Vicki K. Rutter, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Rutter, Route 1, Laurelvile, suffered a fractured jaw, lacerations to her chin, left cheek, and right knee after she drove off Spangler Road 11 a.m. Thursday and crashed into a tree.

Also injured in the accident was a six-year-old passenger in her car, Rhonda Hoffman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hoffman, Route 4, Circleville. She was treated for chest pains, bruise of the forehead and abrasions.

Deputy Warren Straley, who charged Miss Rutter in Juvenile Court with having no operator's license, said she was driving west on Spangler Road and had just driven through a narrow bridge about a half a mile from the junction of Jackson Road.

SHE apparently continued on the road surface for about 100 feet before losing control of the car in loose gravel. The auto slid into the left ditch, struck a farm fence and drove 57 feet before hitting a tree.

The car, owned by Hoffman according to the report, sustained extensive front end damage.

Three fence posts and 6 feet of fence, also owned by Hoffman, were destroyed.

Sheriff's Deputy J. Phillip Brown said a slow-moving farm tractor, attempting to make a left turn from County Road 511, was the indirect cause of a two car accident almost a mile north of Marshall Road 8:05 p.m. Thursday.

Is there anything more satisfying than finding someone who has read the book you just finished? Of course it is immensely gratifying to find and enjoy a good book by yourself. But the joy of discussing that title with someone else seems like a pleasing echo. It's great to learn that you both liked the same characters, or disagreed with a non-fiction writer on a salient point. Books mentioned in today's column are the kind you will enjoy discussing with a friend.

Len Deighton can be counted on for a fast-paced story. "The Ipcress File", "Funeral in Berlin" and "Bomber" are examples of his breezy facade for a lightening-quick narrative. His latest book is "Close-Up" and it is well-named. It is an in-depth portrait of a shallow man. Marshall Stone is the stereotypical Hollywood superstar. He won overnight fame and squandered them both. His biographer digs deep and finds what he does not want to recognize. As before, Deighton proves that he researched carefully and, while his characters follow a fixed pattern, they are indeed true to life. An old-fashioned device—sharp quotations heading each chapter—lends an air of authenticity to the book.

It is no doubt safe to say that Norah Lofts will never disappoint her fans. Her biographical novels of women in history, and religious fantasy all have great appeal for women. With "Out of the Dark" she uses her familiarity with Victorian England as a background for icy suspense. Four-year-old Vincent, quick-witted and strong for his age, was done away with in a murder most foul. Yet Miss Lofts builds a sympathy for Rose, his murderer, which evokes ambiguous feelings. "Out of the Dark" is written with skill. Readers will tell each other "I really knew how it would end, from the very beginning."

Rand McNally has a guide for travel almost anywhere. Now it has published practical advice for the golden years. "Rand McNally's Guide to Retirement Living" is new, and claims to be the first of its kind. It opens with helpful hints for choosing retirement homes. Then it lists over a thousand apartments, condominiums, trailer parks, and retirement communities. Essential information such as addresses, names of managers, health facilities, and sponsoring organizations are included. This book will prove invaluable for those planning retirement for themselves or family members, and also for retirees who are contemplating change.

As a former librarian, professor, and freelance writer, Willard A. Heaps has always made a specialty of current issues. He is the author of books on transient labor and on riots. His "Taxation, U.S.A." is of real contemporary concern. He sees no reduction in the tax burden of the citizenry, but he does envision a wiser use of public funds in the future. Taxes, he says, are a fact of life. Then where does the money go? He believes that the voice of the taxpayer will be heard. There is a list of sources and a good index attached to the book. Any mention of taxes is sure to bring forth comment and opinion. Arm yourself with facts from this book.

Dr. Albert Simone Given Post At UC

names of the party's presidential candidates appear on primary ballots.

The Ohio Constitution now requires the listing of the names of all the national convention delegates pledged to each candidate.

Because of the large field of Democratic candidates in the primary last May, paper "bed-sheet" ballots were required at extreme added cost.

"Not only did the delegate selection procedures require almost $2 million in additional costs, but it caused voter confusion that was beyond belief," said Howard Metzenbaum,

Cleveland To Celebrate 176th Anniversary

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland will celebrate its 176th anniversary Saturday with the laying of a wreath at the foot of the statue of city founder Moses Cleveland.

The history of the city also will be outlined in a two-hour program on Public Square starting at 11 a.m. The Hotel Sheraton-Cleveland is providing a 50-pound cake, which will be served to the public.

Metzenbaum said a change in the Ohio Constitution would be required to permit just the listing of presidential candidates' names.

He said the proposal could be presented next year to a State Constitutional Convention if voters approve holding one on the November ballot.

The committee withheld action on a number of other matters until its Aug. 28 meeting in Columbus after members asked to be given more time to study them.

Metzenbaum directed that members be sent copies of Ohio

Constitutional requirements on delegate selection, requirements in the party's state constitution and the McGovern Commission guidelines that some said they had not seen.

Left for the August meeting was action on these issues:

—Whether delegate districts should remain aligned with the state's congressional districts or changed to coincide with state legislature districts.

—Whether oaths taken by delegates be legally binding so that they must vote at the national convention as promised. They now are not legally binding.

—What should be procedures of public notice so that they would prompt more people to take part in the delegate selection process.

The committee was named by Democratic state Chairman William Lavelle and includes representatives of state officeholders, legislative leaders, congressmen, and other groups within the party.

Pepple Says State Owes Him $16,000

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Former state Sen. Ross Pepple of Lima says the state owes him two years pay of $16,000 plus interest because he lost his job through the 1967 redrawing of legislative boundaries.

If the Sundry Claims board rejects his claim when it meets Aug. 4, Pepple said he will take his case to the Ohio Supreme Court.

"I was constitutionally elected for a four-year term, but I received no payment for the final two years which I did not serve through no fault of my own," Pepple said.

Pepple one-time chairman of the Senate Education Committee and vice chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, was elected in 1964 to a four-year term.

The Republican redistricting plan forced him to move into Perrysburg, where he ran and lost in the 1968 primary election to Howard Cook, who still holds a Senate seat. Cook took office in January 1969.

Since the state cannot be sued, the Sundry Claims Board acts as a clearing house for payment of valid claims.

Mars Shapes Up

Science fiction addicts, hold on to your ray guns. There still may be life on Mars — oh, maybe not antenna-headed little men, but life nevertheless. Or an indication it existed.

Perhaps the little men are there indeed, living in underground cities on a red-tinged planet where the afternoon equator temperature is a livable 80 degrees. Where there is enough moisture to cause heavy rainfalls, enough propulsion to whip up dust storms, enough ozone at the poles to make human life tenable at 200 degrees below zero.

No question about it. Mars is a bonanza, and Mariner 9 has provided it in 7,000 pictures snapped from 1,000 miles above the surface since November. Giant canyons that dwarf the Grand Canyon, mountains 30 times wider than Mt. Everest is high, 300 mph winds.

It's all there for the sci-fi writers, same terrain but a larger-than-life perspective, courtesy of the friendly scientists who are hugging each other over the detail in such a profusely featured landscape, contrasted with the barrenness of the moon.

The United States will dispatch a life-detection robot to Mars in 1976, and the Russians are talking about doing it next year. Up to now, as the fiction merchants have been saying all along, Mars is the most productive planet in the solar system from the standpoint of possibility.

If Mariner continues to perform at least as well as it has for 428 orbits, man will undoubtedly be hard on the heels of his electronic advance agent.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you tired of clinging friends? Would you rather have more good, clean-cut 100 per cent enemies who can't stand the sight of you?

Well, this is one of the easiest things in life to arrange. All you have to do is loose the cutting edge of your tongue, and before you know it, it will create enough feuds, vendettas and dislikes to keep you busy for several generations.

Here are a few remarks guaranteed to cut down your number of pals and add to the rankled ranks of those who would be glad to hang you up by your thumbs:

"I wouldn't marry you if you were the last man on earth."
"I know this is Tuesday and that I promised you on my word of honor that I'd pay you back on Tuesday, but I don't have it now, but I'll give you my word of honor that I'll pay you back next Friday."

"Didn't I invite you to the party? I knew there was somebody I missed, but I couldn't think who it was."

"Yeah, it's a sweet new bug-guy okay, but I know a guy who got the very same model for three hundred bucks less."
"Which one of those kids is yours — not that funny-looking one on the left, is it?"

"You ought to do something about getting rid of that water-melon. It makes you look old."

"I don't know why it takes you so long to do anything. Any other man would have been able to get three taxicabs by now."

"You pay it, Fred. The smallest I have on me is a $20 bill."
"So you want to see my hole card, do you? Well, put another $15 in the pot and I'll let you take a look."

"How can you go around saying you're 6 feet tall, when I'm taller than you are, and I know that I'm only 5 feet 10?"

"He may be bald now, but when we were going to college together his nickname was 'The Hairy Ape.' Tell them about it, Fred darling."

"I like your new hat. Too bad they didn't have one your size."

"I'll tell you where you're wrong."

"You abuse the right of a college graduate to be ignorant."

"The way you eat I should serve you your food in a trough."

"When I married you, I thought that by now you'd be earning at least twice what you are."

"Oh, yes, I suppose I can do without it. That's what I'm used to—doing without the things we really need."

"If you don't like it, you can jump it."
"What kind of a spineless jellyfish are you?"

"God must have been asleep when you were born."

Horoscope Forecast

By Carroll Righter

SATURDAY'S HOROSCOPE

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A complicated day and one when most everyone wants to state his or her views to others irrespective of whether they please or annoy, so certain tact is necessary where controversial subject are concerned, or those that could hurt the feelings of others. Stop, look and think twice before making snide, sarcastic comments.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are anxious to get out to new places and people, but you have promises to keep to others first, so do just that. Not a good day to make any radical changes. Study the matter well first.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Study liabilities and assets well now that you have the time and know what to do in the future instead of arguing with those at home. Mate may be in a grumpy mood. Refuse to get angry.

Beef Livers Contain Illegal DES Chemical

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four more beef livers have been found by federal inspectors to contain illegal traces of DES, a cancer-causing growth booster commonly used by livestock producers, the Agriculture Department announced Thursday.

The new findings raised to 58 the number of positive samples detected among 2,550 cattle and sheep checked for the hormone this year. New regulations aimed at tightening control over the chemical went into effect last Jan. 8.

As of now, officials said, 2.27 per cent of the livestock carcasses checked this year have showed traces of DES—diethylstilbestrol.

The chemical has been found only in livers, not in the red meat or muscle tissue.

Although the current rate is down slightly from several weeks ago, it still is more than quadruple the 0.5 per cent detections of 1971.

The four DES samples came from steers produced in Nebraska, California, Arizona and Ohio, the department said.

Since Jan. 8 livestock producers have been required to certify they have not fed DES at all or else have withdrawn it from animal feed at least seven days before slaughter.

As in previous cases, the latest findings were from animals which had been certified as free of DES.

The chemical, a synthetic hormone, has caused cancer in laboratory animals when fed in large doses. Under federal law, any cancer-causing additive is prohibited from food products.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — The trials of economic planners has been a recurring episode in the drama of government. Like playwrights, they try to move their characters about the stage purposefully, but often what ensues is meaningless.

What happened to Treasury Department planners this year, however, is by no means without significance: it is loaded with consequences for individual pocketbooks and government finances—in the amount of $8 billion.

That is the Treasury's estimate of income taxes likely to be withheld from paychecks as a result of changes in the law that were meant, ironically, to make withholding more responsive to reality.

The intention was to correlate withholdings and the actual tax likely to be owed by making adjustments in the deduction formula.

As millions had learned, the old formula often left the taxpayer with either a bill to pay or a bill to receive when the time of reckoning came. Those who wished to avoid a payment on the following April 15 often compensated by raising their deductions.

And so when the forms were adjusted it was found the taxpayers didn't. Many filed the same W4 forms with their employers.

Many people, it seems, view withholding as a method of forced savings. This year $13.579 billion was sent back. And next year, it is feared, the total might be $24 billion.

Even for a nation big as the United States, that's a powerful lot of money. Powerful enough, that is, to probably send the economy off in a direction other than that desired by the planners.

To some extent, something of the sort has already occurred. The plan for early this year was to get consumers back to the market place and thus spur the economy. Instead, consumers stored their money with the Treasury.

How much vigor this took out of the recovery is difficult to estimate, but you may be sure it had some economists in private industry and government very concerned.

Next year the impact might be easier to measure. Early in the year, it is now widely believed, the government will be seeking to keep spending down as the economy nears capacity.

And that is the very time, you will note, when all those billions of overwithheld taxes will be flowing back into the consumer economy. While some consumers might look forward to this, most planners consider it a diabolical script.

But planners do not give up. The most widely discussed remedy is that offered by Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, who suggested to Congress that funds be in bonds instead of cash.

The idea of this plan is to discourage immediate use of the money by consumers.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Each year I develop a terrible reaction to poison ivy and poison oak. Is there any way to protect myself from it?

Mrs. F.E.S., La.

Dear Mrs. S.: It is a paradox that plants and flowers with such lovely names as buttercup, primrose, ivy, sumac, and oak can cause so much misery when hypersensitive people touch them. They all contain a very irritating substance, urushiol, which produces the itchy, angry, red, unpleasant skin symptoms. The sap of a plant can be just as irritating to the skin as the leaf.

It is strange that many people can touch, cut and handle these leaves without the slightest reaction. One must assume, therefore, that the people who are affected are allergic to the plant oils, and react violently to the slightest contact.

The poison can easily be spread from one part of the body to another. Clothing and tools can become contaminated and pass on the poisonous oil from one person to another.

Of course, the ideal advice is to learn to recognize these plant and flower hazards and to avoid them. But this is not always possible. The three-leaf ivy is probably the greatest offender, and children and adults can easily learn to distinguish them before contact.

There are a number of excellent new sprays, creams and ointments that can reduce the most unpleasant consequences of this type of skin poisoning. Specialists in allergy have been successful to a degree in desensitizing people who are known to have had reactions to this type of poisoning.

Whenever I am embarrassed I can't express myself very well in class. Suddenly I begin to breathe rapidly and then barely can keep from fainting.

Otherwise I am in good health. I feel silly to tell this to my parents or to the doctor.

Could you explain this to me? I am in my first year of high school.

J.M., Wis.

Dear J.: I am delighted to answer your question, but first let me impress on you the fact that your parents would be most sympathetic if you explained to them your strange physical and emotional sensations.

There is no shame in expressing to those who love you anything that is a source of disturbance to you.

Your parents would, of course, arrange for you to be examined by a doctor, and you would be spared the anxiety you feel.

Now, about the fainting sensation you describe. Many people will, during a period of stress or embarrassment, take a series of deep, sighing breaths. This is known as "hyperventilation."

This sets off a very complex imbalance of the oxygen and the carbon dioxide in the blood. It accounts for the momentary sensation of dizziness, faintness, blurring of the vision and, occasionally, tingling of the hands.

This is not a serious condition, but it should be described to your parents, and then to your doctor.

Yesterday's Answer

McGovern The Young

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

I heard predictions at Miami Beach, made by reputable students of voting trends, that Sen. McGovern would be lucky to carry four of five states (beginning with South Dakota, Massachusetts, and Hawaii) next November. But it was only last February that practically all the pundits were saying that McGovern, with his low ratings in the polls, could never win the nomination. Surely never have so many experts been wrong over such a protracted period of time. I still think Richard Nixon will be our next President, but he had better not count on it being a shoo-in.

One good reason for advising Republican wariness was all too apparent at Miami Beach: the McGovern people combine an extreme mobility with their fantastic energy. The young who make up a good part of McGovern's traveling cadres are footloose and fancy free. Not a few of them got to Miami Beach by hitchhiking, and there were stories about their ability to cadge lunch money in order to extend their stay for the victory parties.

They don't need money in big amounts to do their jobs. Since they are not yet settled in life and take what schooling remains to them quite casually, they will continue to have time to spend on the road throughout the summer and the fall. If, as McGovern says, the Democrats are going to register more than 11,000,000 new voters by next November, the "new" party is bound to have a mobile power that the Republicans can't match.

Generally speaking, Republicans have settled careers that they take seriously; they don't have the time or inclination to go in for political back-packing. They couldn't compete with the army of college kids that trudged through the New Hampshire snows, for their vacation periods are necessarily limited and dedicated to family pursuits. When it is a question of moving about over a 90-day stretch from August to November, how many Republicans will be able to put in more than a few hours work doing the propagandizing and registering that will have to be done to counter the McGovern forces' mobility?

Senator Bob Dole, the GOP national chairman, is presented with a dilemma: how to turn Republican junior executives and middle-aged housewives into flying squadrons capable of combating the McGovern teenagers and footloose sons and daughters of the affluent who think a political campaign is just a lark to get away from the boredom of suburbia.

If Nixon does lose to the mobile McGovern volunteers, it will be a transcendent irony, for it was Nixon who presented the 18-year-olds with the vote. He did this despite intense pressure from his more conservative White House advisers, who wanted him to veto the voting-age bill. McGovern has promised to remove all U.S. personnel from Vietnam within 90 days after the inauguration, which is a peanut promise when compared to the fact that Nixon has already taken 500,000 out of Vietnam, leaving only 49,000 to advise our allies and to cover our exodus.

Moreover, Nixon has decreed that no more draftees will be sent to the Southeast Asian battlefield. Nevertheless, the ungrateful Young McGovernites still attack Nixon as a warmonger for his insistence that we must conduct our retreat from Asia without throwing those who have been our friends to the Communist wolves.

Mars Shapes Up

Science fiction addicts, hold on to your ray guns. There still may be life on Mars — oh, maybe not antenna-headed little men, but life nevertheless. Or an indication it existed.

Perhaps the little men are there indeed, living in underground cities on a red-tinged planet where the afternoon equator temperature is a livable 80 degrees. Where there is enough moisture to cause heavy rainfalls, enough propulsion to whip up dust storms, enough ozone at the poles to make human life tenable at 200 degrees below zero.

No question about it. Mars is a bonanza, and Mariner 9 has provided it in 7,000 pictures snapped from 1,000 miles above the surface since November. Giant canyons that dwarf the Grand Canyon, mountains 30 times wider than Mt. Everest is high, 300 mph winds.

It's all there for the sci-fi writers, same terrain but a larger-than-life perspective, courtesy of the friendly scientists who are hugging each other over the detail in such a profusely featured landscape, contrasted with the barrenness of the moon.

The United States will dispatch a life-detection robot to Mars in 1976, and the Russians are talking about doing it next year. Up to now, as the fiction merchants have been saying all along, Mars is the most productive planet in the solar system from the standpoint of possibility.

If Mariner continues to perform at least as well as it has for 428 orbits, man will undoubtedly be hard on the heels of his electronic advance agent.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you tired of clinging friends? Would you rather have more good, clean-cut 100 per cent enemies who can't stand the sight of you?

Well, this is one of the easiest things in life to arrange. All you have to do is loose the cutting edge of your tongue, and before you know it, it will create enough feuds, vendettas and dislikes to keep you busy for several generations.

Here are a few remarks guaranteed to cut down your number of pals and add to the rankled ranks of those who would be glad to hang you up by your thumbs:

"I wouldn't marry you if you were the last man on earth."

"I know this is Tuesday and that I promised you on my word of honor that I'd pay you back on Tuesday, but I don't have it now, but I'll give you my word of honor that I'll pay you back next Friday."

"Didn't I invite you to the party? I knew there was somebody I missed, but I couldn't think who it was."

"Yeah, it's a sweet new buggy okay, but I know a guy who got the very same model for three hundred bucks less."

"Which one of those kids is yours—not that funny-looking one on the left, is it?"

"You ought to do something about getting rid of that water-melon. It makes you look old."

"I don't know why it takes you so long to do anything. Any other man would have been able to get three taxicabs by now."

"You pay it, Fred. The smallest I have on me is a $20 bill."

"So you want to see my hole card, do you? Well, put another $15 in the pot and I'll let you take a look."

"How can you go around saying you're 6 feet tall, when I'm taller than you are, and I know that I'm only 5 feet 10?"

"He may be bald now, but when we were going to college together his nickname was 'The Hairy Ape.' Tell them about it, Fred darling."

"I like your new hat. Too bad they didn't have one your size."

"I'll tell you where you're wrong."

"You abuse the right of a college graduate to be ignorant."

"The way you eat I should serve you your food in a trough."

"When I married you, I thought that by now you'd be earning at least twice what you are."

"Oh, yes, I suppose I can do without it. That's what I'm used to—doing without the things we really need."

"If you don't like it, you can lump it."

"What kind of a spineless jellyfish are you?"

"God must have been asleep when you were born."

McGovern The Young

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

I heard predictions at Miami Beach, made by reputable students of voting trends, that Sen. McGovern would be lucky to carry four of five states (beginning with South Dakota, Massachusetts, and Hawaii) next November. But it was only last February that practically all the pundits were saying that McGovern, with his low ratings in the polls, could never win the nomination. Surely never have so many experts been wrong over such a protracted period of time. I still think Richard Nixon will be our next President, but he had better not count on it being a shoe-in.

One good reason for advising Republican wariness was all too apparent at Miami Beach: the McGovern people combine an extreme mobility with their fantastic energy. The young who make up a good part of McGovern's traveling cadres are footloose and fancy free. Not a few of them got to Miami Beach by hitchhiking, and there were stories about their ability to cadge lunch money in order to extend their stay for the victory parties.

They don't need money in big amounts to do their jobs. Since they are not yet settled in life and take what schooling remains to them quite casually, they will continue to have time to spend on the road throughout the summer and the fall. If, as McGovern says, the Democrats are going to register more than 11,000,000 new voters by next November, the "new" party is bound to have a mobile power that the Republicans can't match.

Generally speaking, Republicans have settled careers that they take seriously; they don't have the time or inclination to go in for political back-packing. They couldn't compete with the army of college kids that trudged through the New Hampshire snows, for their vacation periods are necessarily limited and dedicated to family pursuits. When it is a question of moving about over a 90-day stretch from August to November, how many Republicans will be able to put in more than a few hours working doing the propagandizing and registering that will have to be done to counter the McGovern forces' mobility?

Senator Bob Dole, the GOP national chairman, is presented with a dilemma: how to turn Republican junior executives and middle-aged housewives into flying squadrons capable of combating the McGovern teenagers and footloose sons and daughters of the affluent who take a political campaign is just a lark to get away from the boredom of suburbia.

If Nixon does lose to the mobile McGovern volunteers, it will be a transcendent irony, for it was Nixon who presented the 18-year-olds with the vote. He did this despite intense pressure from his more conservative White House advisers, who wanted him to veto the voting-age bill. McGovern has promised to remove all U.S. personnel from Vietnam within 90 days after the inauguration, which is a peanut promise when compared to the fact that Nixon has already taken 500,000 out of Vietnam, leaving only 49,000 to advise our allies and to cover our exodus.

Moreover, Nixon has decreed that no more draftees will be sent to the Southeast Asian battlefield. Nevertheless, the ungrateful Young McGovernites still attack Nixon as a warmonger for his insistence that we must conduct our retreat from Asia without throwing those who have been our friends to the Communist wolves.

Scientists Study Boy, 14, Who Quit Growing At Age 3

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The more the doctors study Sergio Pacheco, the more baffled they are. Why did the 14-year-old youngster stop growing at the age of 3?

After two months of study Dr. David Chadwick, who heads a team of researchers on the case, says, "I'm afraid our research—so far has raised more questions than it has answered."

The dark-eyed Mexican boy was born in a hovel on the southern fringes of Tijuana. He grew normally for three years. Since then, he and his family say his normally apportioned body has changed only a fraction of an inch.

Doctors say he is 33 inches tall, weighs less than 40 pounds and actively competes in sports.

Sergio, a sophomore who does well in high school, gets along with his brothers and sisters, whose growth has been normal, and with his friends.

A campaign in San Diego has raised $1,000 to finance the research tests which Chadwick, a specialist at Children's Hospital, said have turned up "nothing to explain adequately his physical problems."

At first, it was thought Sergio either lacked sufficient growth hormones or suffered from a pituitary gland problem.

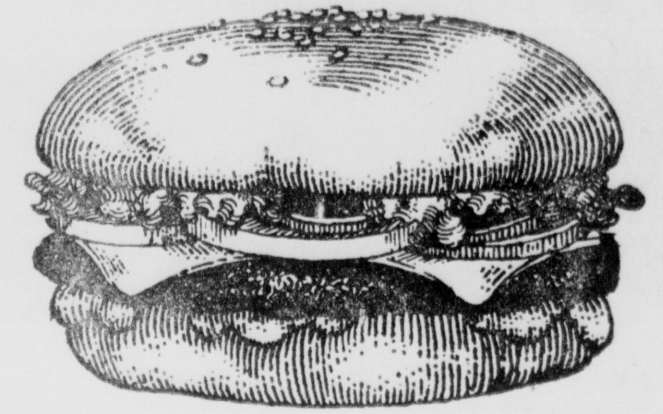

"Maybe it is something missing in his tissue structure that keeps his body from growing," Chadwick said in an interview Wednesday. "It could be a new missing factor as far as medical science is concerned."

Teenage Circleville Girl Finds Work Gratifying

MISS VIRGINIA JOHNSON

By MARION SINES
Herald Society Editor

Personal benefits from volunteer work in the community rates very high in the opinion of Miss Virginia Johnson. She says that working with many people helps in knowing and understanding them and in that way one learns to get along with them. She feels it is a valuable part of growing up.

In the three years as a Red Cross Volunteer she has worked mostly at Berger Hospital but has also assisted at the Circleville Home, ushered for High Fever Follies and assisted at the Bloodmobile visits. Her work in this capacity has taught her to serve people, learn patience, handle emergencies and use her first aid training.

Virginia started in Girl Scouting as a Brownie and continued until after one year as a Senior Scout. As a Scout she participated in cleaning the Red Cross building both inside and out, caroling and visiting rest homes to give the residents gifts, selling cookies and camping.

She attended Vacation Bible School beginning in kindergarten and now has taught for the past three years at Community United Methodist Church where her family are all active members.

The SOS Club at Circleville High School where the diminutive 17-year-old is a senior has proven a very satisfying experience for Virginia. Under the direction of adviser Mrs. Lois Brobst, the girls operated a food booth at football games and during Pumpkin Show where they earned money to buy food for needy persons at holiday times. They visited rest homes and each adopted an elderly person who they remembered on birthday anniversaries and at other times during the year.

As a member of United Methodist Youth Fellowship she found pleasure in doing things for other people. Some of the projects included caroling, supplying food for the less fortunate, collecting and donating money for repairs of the AME Church, purchasing a new piano for the church and sending children to church camp.

Virginia attended Aquatic School sponsored by the Red Cross at Carrollton this June to learn water safety instructions. She studied to be a first aid, small craft and water safety instructor.

Currently she is involved in the Red Cross swimming program. She teaches swimming each morning Monday through Friday from 9:30 until 11:45 a.m. as she has done for the past three years. Her greatest fulfillment in this project is teaching beginners how to swim.

In school Virginia finds many activities other than her studies to occupy her time and seemingly unlimited energy. She is a school officer, plays the flute in the band and will be a member of the color guard this year, is interested in school sports, has been on the set crew for class plays and decorating committee for the Junior-Senior Prom.

Along with the time she volunteers to various projects Virginia still finds time to work about 20 hours a week during the summer and 15 hours during the school year at Pickaway County Public Library where she shelves books.

Along with her share of duties at home she has undertaken a special activity this year. Each Thursday she plans, purchases needed items, prepares and serves dinner to the family. She still finds time to collect postcards and charms and work very large jigsaw puzzles.

Following graduation from high school Virginia plans to enter college but has no definite plans as to where she will go or what she will use as a major.

Virginia is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Johnson of 585 Woodland Drive. They have four other children, Kathleen, Paul, Eric and Patricia. The entire family has a great amount of energy and are busy with many projects. One favorite is riding their horses which they keep at their farm. All members of the family work for the betterment of their church and community.

Nice for a garnish for salmon or some other dish — cucumber twists. To make them, slice a cucumber thin; cut each slice from one outside edge to the center. Twist the cut pieces in opposite directions to form S-shape twists.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Marriage Is For Mature People Only

DEAR ABBY: For three years I lived with a chick and we had the greatest love affair imaginable going for us. Do you know what killed it? MARRIAGE!

We're not kids. I am 33 and she is 30. We tried it and we didn't like it.

LEGAL IS LOUSY
DEAR LOUSY: True. Marriage is not for everybody.

Views On TV - Radio

Editor's Note: During Cynthia Lowry's vacation, the column is being written by invited guests, each of whom was asked to respond to specific questions about some special area of television. Here is the report of the vice president in charge of research marketing services for the ABC network, the man whose job it is to figure out who and how many viewers are watching the shows of his own and other networks and to sort out the millions by age, sex, income and geographic distribution.

By MARVIN ANTONOWSKY

Q. Using charts, surveys and polls, does a portrait of the average television viewer emerge?

A. The typical TV viewer is not likely to be a very exotic person, since 96 per cent of U.S. households own at least one television set (and approximately 40 per cent own more than one and about half have a color television set.) The average TV viewer therefore would undoubtedly be very similar to the average American—the average American WOMAN that is, because, women, being home to a greater extent than men, watch more TV—about 4½ hours a day compared with about 3½ hours a day for the average man.

This woman is probably 28 years old, a high school graduate, got married at the age of 21 to a white-collar worker, has one child and one car and gets along on a family income of $10,200 that she contributes to with part-time work.

Her home is probably located in the suburb of a large city somewhere between New York and Chicago.

Her favorite nighttime programs are "All in the Family" and "Marcus Welby, M.D." Of the new television shows this past season, the ones she likes most are "Columbo," "The Sonny and Cher Show" and "Owen Marshall, Counselor at Law."

Does this sound like anyone you know? Probably. But even if it doesn't, television has something for everybody. Even if you happen to be a man, 53, with a Ph. D. degree, no wife, no children, no car and a house deep in the woods, your set can still offer you programs ranging from football to a performance of Hamlet to a discussion on youth gangs.

Television has its typical viewers but what keeps people of all walks of life interested is the wide variety of fare it offers and its ability to take them out of their homes electronically and into the world outside.

The typical woman we've described is no longer circumscribed in her thinking by what happens immediately around her but is truly a citizen of the world. So are millions of others.

It's only for mature people who are prepared to accept all the legal responsibilities of marriage. You just wanted to play house.

DEAR ABBY: How does one discourage "dropperinners"? I hate to be rude but these people are running me crazy.

You see, my husband came home from the hospital after a stroke and everybody wants to see him. I know he will make a quicker recovery here at home, but if people don't leave him alone, I'll have to take him back to the hospital. I had a coronary myself last year and all this company is wearing me out, too.

No amount of explaining seems to penetrate. People call and I tell them my husband isn't up to having any company just yet, but they come anyway, ring the bell and say, "I'll stay only a minute." Then they stay for hours.

Please help me.

EXHAUSTED
DEAR EXHAUSTED: If they call first, says, "Sorry, absolutely no visitors yet." And if they ring your bell anyway, let the dingalings ring!

DEAR ABBY: I am curious to know what the law is regarding an unauthorized person opening another person's mail.

Our boss opens all the mail that comes to the office before passing it to the person to whom it is addressed. Several of us are very put out about this.

While we have nothing to hide, we consider this an invasion of privacy and are considering reporting him to the postal authorities.

He has even removed complimentary tickets enclosed in the letters.

WANTS ACTION
DEAR WANTS: Surely you are aware (as your boss must be) that opening mail addressed to another is a federal offense! And removing tickets is theft. I cannot imagine why you haven't already reported him, and quit your job.

DEAR ABBY: When one must (or prefers to) decline an invitation, is it necessary to state the reason? It seems so cold and aloof to simply decline without offering some kind of explanation.

CURIOUS
DEAR CURIOUS: If one genuinely regrets that he must decline, he usually offers an explanation, and adds, "But please try me again."

Norwood GM Talks Still Make Progress

CINCINNATI (AP) — Negotiators in the strike at the General Motors Assembly Division in nearby Norwood are continuing to make progress on minor issues.

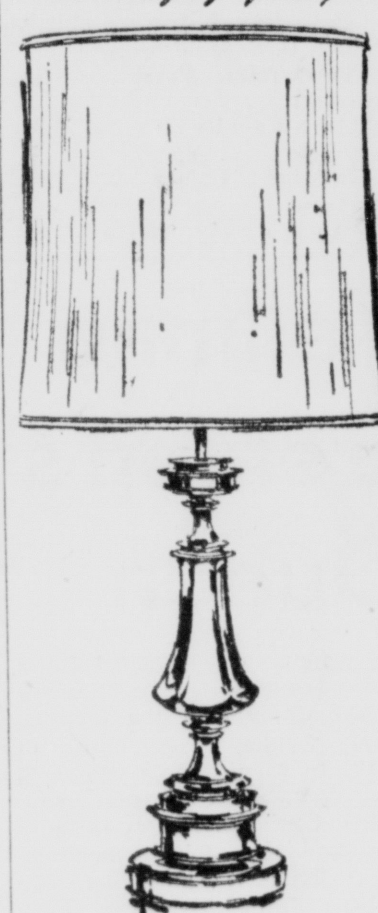

Agreement was reached Thursday on two more minor issues, bringing the total of settlements this week to 23. Less than 40 of 80 minor demands remain to be settled as talks resume today.

However, representatives of striking Local 674 of the United Auto Workers and GM have not resolved any major issues—manpower reductions, assembly line speed and seniority.

About 4,000 members of the local union walked about April 8.

Armstrong Museum Opens In Sweltering Heat

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP) — Standing in sweltering heat outside the air and space museum named in his honor, former astronaut Neil Armstrong was reminded of his "summer vacation" on the moon three years earlier.

"The temperature on the Sea of Tranquility was 230 degrees," Armstrong told about 5,000 persons attending the opening of the museum Thursday. "And three years later, I can safely say Wapakoneta is not far behind."

After the laughter subsided, Armstrong said, more seriously, it was "a great privilege to be counted among those who decades ago paved the way."

The $1 million, 6,000-square foot museum was built to honor the contributions of a number of Ohioans to the exploration of air and space.

Joining Armstrong and his wife in the opening ceremonies were Tricia Nixon Cox, Gov. John Gilligan and several other dignitaries.

Mrs. Cox presented a piece of moon rock for display in the museum and then reminisced about where she was three years ago Thursday when Armstrong became the first man to walk on the moon.

"My father was talking to Cmdr. Armstrong, who had just stepped onto the moon," she remembered. "I was watching the whole thing on television in the western hall of the White House, along with my mother, and Mamie Eisenhower, and my sister Julie's husband, David.

"It was great. I could hear the conversation between my father and Cmdr. Armstrong on television, then I could look across the hall and actually see my father talking. It was very dramatic."

The President's oldest daughter represented her father and the National Aeronautics and Space Agency at the ceremony.

Armstrong, a Wapakoneta native now teaching at the University of Cincinnati, commanded the Apollo 11 flight to the moon. With him on that journey were Lt. Col. Michael Collins and Col. Edward E. Aldrin.

An enthusiastic crowd gave Mrs. Cox and Gilligan standing ovations, but saved their strongest cheers for a broadly smiling Armstrong.

Former Gov. James Rhodes, who commissioned the $1 million museum in 1969, did not attend. But a number of state legislators were present, along with 17-year-old Vickie Cole of Carey, a high school senior who four years ago carried a sign that gave President Nixon his campaign slogan, "Bring Us Together."

Gov. Gilligan made his own presentation to the museum — a limited edition volume commemorating the Apollo 11 flight.

Then, "Because we're all so proud that Neil is an Ohioan," he unpinned from his lapel a tiny Buckeye state flag and gave it to Armstrong, who promptly pinned it on his lapel.

Gilligan then gave an identical pin to Tricia, announcing her to be an honorary Ohioan. She took the pin and shook hands with the governor, but didn't put the pin on.

After the speeches were over, Gilligan, Tricia and Armstrong were slated to go into the museum for a picture-taking session, but before they got there the crowd surged forward demanding touches and autographs.

"Neil touched me," squealed several middle-aged women in the crowd. Tricia stopped to chat with an eight-year-old girl, Mary Haroldson of Salina, who told her she had just visited the White House one week ago.

Also in the audience were Armstrong's beaming parents and his two sons.

The Wapakoneta High School Band, and the Sing Out Troy group, sang songs and played marches before the guests of honor arrived.

On the hill behind the speaker's platform, sat the band, the singers, blue-uniformed boy scouts and girl scouts in green dresses.

Members of the Ohio Civil Air Patrol helped keep the crowd orderly, and four jets from the Ohio National Air Guard made two overcast passes in honor of the occasion.

The heat became so intense that two elderly men sitting on wooden chairs draped their heads with white handkerchiefs.

A mother took a thermos bottle of cold milk and a package of cookies to feed her children while other hungry and thirsty spectators waited for her to distribute a little charity. She didn't.

Texas Group Gives Boost To Wallace

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The vice chairman of the American Party says it has 13,000 signatures on petitions to put Alabama Gov. George Wallace's name on the presidential ballot in Texas.

Wallace has indicated through aides he will not run for president on a third party ticket.

"We're not going to believe that he's not going to be a candidate until he himself tells us," said Morris K. Womack, the party's vice chairman.

He said Wallace is scheduled to address the American Party National Convention Aug. 4 and "so far that engagement has not been cancelled."

Womack predicted workers would get the 23,000 signatures required by the Texas secretary of state by Sept. 1 to get Wallace on the ballot.

Wallace polled more than 500,000 votes in Texas in 1968 when he ran for president on the American Party ticket.

News Reporter Bats .500 In Fooling Airline Security

By STEVE GARNAAS

Editors Note: Journal News Writer Steve Garnaas was assigned to test skyjacking surveillance at Greater Cincinnati Airport and Port Columbus. Garnaas and his trusty stapler, subbing for a pistol, were aboard TWA flight 448 from Cincinnati to Columbus and TWA Flight 573 from Columbus to Dayton Wednesday night.

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — The legendary hijacker D.P. Cooper stirred certain fantasies in my mind about the recent skyjacking craze. But I had the idea of being the born loser of skyjackers and getting caught with the goods before I boarded the plane.

As I carefully strolled toward the boarding gate at Greater Cincinnati Airport, I gave my "gun" a gentle pat of confidence in my left breast pocket and occasionally glanced over my shoulder for suspicious FBI agents or airport security. The ticket agent was no challenge. I walked through the gate, with no bells or sirens.

I departed the plane in Columbus and walked directly to TWA Flight 573 for Dayton. One more chance.

The agent at the gate looked at my ticket and noted I had just got off another flight. I could tell I really had him wondering.

I pointed to a weird looking arch at the gate and asked him what it was, although I really knew.

"That's a magnetometer—it detects metal objects," he answered. He reported that it was so sensitive that once a lady removed every metal object on her, and the light still came on.

"We couldn't figure it out. It ended up being a piece of metal on her bra," the agent said.

I nervously passed through the magnetometer and the agent asked me to open my briefcase and empty my pockets.

I groped feverishly for the "gun" in my left breast pocket and said with relief, "See, it's only a stapler."

Riffle Guilty Of Lesser No License Charge

Donald C. Riffle, 38, Route 1, Ashville, charged with driving a vehicle while his license was under suspension, entered a plea of guilty to the lesser charge of driving with no operator's license in a Municipal Court case Thursday.

Riffle was fined $100 and costs by Judge Sterling Lamb and sentenced to the Pickaway County jail for 90 days.

In September 1970, Rodney and Pamela Anderson and pilot Malcolm Brighton ascended from Easthampton, L.I., in an attempt to cross the Atlantic in the balloon "Free Life." Thirty hours and 1000 miles later it crashed and the team was never seen again.

Armstrong Museum Opens In Sweltering Heat

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP) — Standing in sweltering heat outside the air and space museum named in his honor, former astronaut Neil Armstrong was reminded of his "summer vacation" on the moon three years earlier.

"The temperature on the Sea of Tranquility was 230 degrees," Armstrong told about 5,000 persons attending the opening of the museum Thursday. "And three years later, I can safely say Wapakoneta is not far behind."

After the laughter subsided, Armstrong said, more seriously, it was "a great privilege to be counted among those who decades ago paved the way."

The $1 million, 6,000-square-foot museum was built to honor the contributions of a number of Ohioans to the exploration of air and space.

Joining Armstrong and his wife in the opening ceremonies were Tricia Nixon Cox, Gov. John Gilligan and several other dignitaries.

Mrs. Cox presented a piece of moon rock for display in the museum and then reminisced about where she was three years ago Thursday when Armstrong became the first man to walk on the moon.

"My father was talking to Cmdr. Armstrong, who had just stepped onto the moon," she remembered. "I was watching the whole thing on television in the western hall of the White House, along with my mother, and Mamie Eisenhower, and my sister Julie's husband, David."

"It was great. I could hear the conversation between my father and Cmdr. Armstrong on television, then I could look across the hall and actually see my father talking. It was very dramatic."

The President's oldest daughter represented her father and the National Aeronautics and Space Agency at the ceremony.

Armstrong, a Wapakoneta native now teaching at the University of Cincinnati, commanded the Apollo 11 flight to the moon. With him on that journey were Lt. Col. Michael Collins and Col. Edward E. Aldrin.

An enthusiastic crowd gave Mrs. Cox and Gilligan standing ovations, but saved their strongest cheers for a broadly smiling Armstrong.

Former Gov. James Rhodes, who commissioned the $1 million museum in 1969, did not attend. But a number of state legislators were present, along with 17-year-old Vickie Cole of Carey, a high school senior who four years ago carried a sign that gave President Nixon his campaign slogan, "Bring Us Together."

Gov. Gilligan made his own presentation to the museum — a limited edition volume commemorating the Apollo 11 flight.

Then, "Because we're all so proud that Neil is an Ohioan," he unpinned from his lapel a tiny Buckeye state flag and gave it to Armstrong, who promptly pinned it on his lapel.

Gilligan then gave an identical pin to Tricia, announcing her to be an honorary Ohioan. She took the pin and shook hands with the governor, but didn't put the pin on.

After the speeches were over, Gilligan, Tricia and Armstrong were slated to go into the museum for a picture-taking session, but before they got there the crowd surged forward demanding touches and autographs.

"Neil touched me," squealed several middle-aged women in the crowd. Tricia stopped to chat with an eight-year-old girl, Mary Haroldson of Salina, who told her she had just visited the White House one week ago.

Also in the audience were Armstrong's beaming parents and his two sons.

The Wapakoneta High School Band, and the Sing Out Troy group, sang songs and played marches before the guests of honor arrived.

On the hill behind the speaker's platform, sat the band, the singers, blue-uniformed boy scouts and girl scouts in green dresses.

Members of the Ohio Civil Air Patrol helped keep the crowd orderly, and four jets from the Ohio National Air Guard made two overcast passes in honor of the occasion.

The heat became so intense that two elderly men sitting on wooden chairs draped their heads with white handkerchiefs.

A mother took a thermos bottle of cold milk and a package of cookies to feed her children while other hungry and thirsty spectators waited for her to distribute a little charity. She didn't.

Robert M. Green, executive secretary of the National Macaroni Manufacturers Association, told the group's 66th annual convention Wednesday that the Italian actress is a dazzling representative of women who eat macaroni.

GENERATION ON

They hit the road early, these youngsters of today.
They cover a lot of miles.
At a pretty fast pace.

And what they need most are the moral and spiritual values that do not change in a fast-moving age.

The role of the Church and the family is becoming more crucial every day. Wise parents realize their children should have the advantage of religious training. They sense the importance of their own example in encouraging positive Christian principles.

We need not worry about our youngsters growing up so rapidly... as long as they grow up well.

3 Persons Succumb To Fumes

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Police say a suburban Miami Township woman caused the deaths of two other persons when she apparently committed suicide Thursday by running a car in a garage attached to her house.

Linda Hardee, 23, was found in the car, which had a hose extending from the exhaust pipe to a window. The coroner's office ruled the death was a suicide.

Inside the house, police found the bodies of her roommate, Patti Hall, 19, and Clyde Key, who had notified authorities before being overcome by the carbon monoxide fumes.

Miss Hardee, who was dating Key, apparently went into the garage and started the auto engine shortly after talking to Key on the telephone early Thursday, the coroner's office said.

Apparently awaking and sensing something was wrong, Miss Hall started to walk around the house and collapsed in the dining room, where her body was found.

Joey Heatherton Sues Paul Anka

JUDICIAL SPEAKER — William Ammer, center, judge of the Pickaway County Court of the Common Pleas, was special speaker Thursday at the weekly meeting of Circleville Rotary. He based his speech to club members on current trends in crime and the law and included discussion on the Ohio House

Bill 511 which is the result of years of study to evaluate and reorganize the state's legal code. Judge Ammer mentioned some changes as inevitable and some leaning too far for leniency to the criminal. He closed with this statement: "We as citizens should raise our voices when change is not in the public interest. This is the American democracy. Now is the time for citizens to raise their approval or disapproval to their senators or representatives — not wait until the law is passed to object." Al Berger, shown at right, was program chairman this week. Also pictured is Rotary President Carlos Alvarez.

Hovey Blasts Kurfess Talk On Tax Boost

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Finance Director Harold Hovey suggested Thursday that House Speaker Charles Kurfess practice what he preaches with regard to fiscal matters.

"If Kurfess would do himself what he is telling the governor to do," Hovey said, "we would all be a lot better off fiscally."

Hovey was responding to a statement issued by Kurfess' office that said Gov. John Gilligan at a Wednesday press conference had "hinted he would propose an increase in the state income tax."

The statement, issued while Kurfess was in Florida, said "with Republicans in control of the General Assembly next year, there will be an absolute commitment to hold the line on increased taxes..."

After asserting that Gilligan "was not talking about this biennium," Hovey accused Kurfess of "leading a charge" to increase state spending without adequate funding.

Hovey said Kurfess had an "active part" in passing a homestead property tax measure which cost $18 million, twice as much as the administration asked.

He said the speaker also helped on a bill earmarking $8 million for local governments that was not available, and in the effort adding about $24 million to the state's Medicaid account "without saying where the money would come from."

3 Persons Succumb To Fumes

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Police say a suburban Miami Township woman caused the deaths of two other persons when she apparently committed suicide Thursday by running a car in a garage attached to her house.

Linda Hardee, 23, was found in the car, which had a hose extending from the exhaust pipe to a window. The coroner's office ruled the death was a suicide.

Inside the house, police found the bodies of her roommate, Patti Hall, 19, and Clyde Key, who had notified authorities before being overcome by the carbon monoxide fumes.

Miss Hardee, who was dating Key, apparently went into the garage and started the auto engine shortly after talking to Key on the telephone early Thursday, the coroner's office said.

Apparently awaking and sensing something was wrong, Miss Hall started to walk around the house and collapsed in the dining room, where her body was found.

JUDICIAL SPEAKER — William Ammer, center, judge of the Pickaway County Court of the Common Pleas, was special speaker Thursday at the weekly meeting of Circleville Rotary. He based his speech to club members on current trends in crime and the law and included discussion on the Ohio House

Bill 511 which is the result of years of study to evaluate and reorganize the state's legal code. Judge Ammer mentioned some changes as inevitable and some leaning too far for leniency to the criminal. He closed with this statement: "We as citizens should raise our voices when change is not in the public interest. This is the American democracy. Now is the time for citizens to raise their approval or disapproval to their senators or representatives — not wait until the law is passed to object." Al Berger, shown at right, was program chairman this week. Also pictured is Rotary President Carlos Alvarez.

Hovey Blasts Kurfess Talk On Tax Boost

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State Finance Director Harold Hovey suggested Thursday that House Speaker Charles Kurfess practice what he preaches with regard to fiscal matters.

"If Kurfess would do himself what he is telling the governor to do," Hovey said, "we would all be a lot better off fiscally."

Hovey was responding to a statement issued by Kurfess' office that said Gov. John Gilligan at a Wednesday press conference had "hinted he would propose an increase in the state income tax."

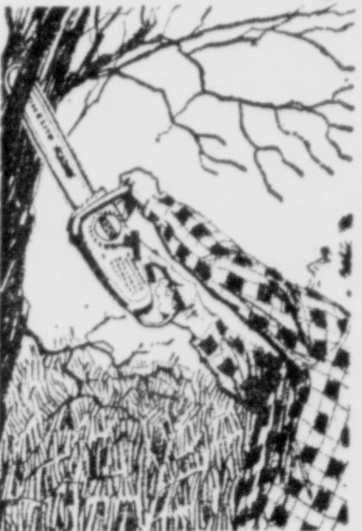

The statement, issued while Kurfess was in Florida, said "with Republicans in control of the General Assembly next year, there will be an absolute commitment to hold the line on increased taxes..."

After asserting that Gilligan "was not talking about this biennium," Hovey accused Kurfess of "leading a charge" to increase state spending without adequate funding.

Hovey said Kurfess had an "active part" in passing a homestead property tax measure which cost $18 million, twice as much as the administration asked.

He said the speaker also helped on a bill earmarking $8 million for local governments that was not available, and in the effort adding about $24 million to the state's Medicaid account "without saying where the money would come from."

The "huffing and puffing" heard throughout the county these days is not a runaway steam engine but a bunch of aspiring and perspiring youthful grid-runners running and exercising in preparation for the coming football season.

Although practice doesn't officially begin until the third week in August, the smart boys are already hard at work on a voluntary physical fitness program. When practice finally gets underway and the "smack and crack" business begins in earnest, the well-conditioned athlete has the inside track.

First of all he is less apt to be injured and stands a better chance of gaining a position on the squad.

Secondly, coaches respect the boys who have been hard at work on their own and this merits a plus mark in the desire to succeed column.

Talent is a wonderful thing — But this usually comes naturally.

Desire comes from the young man himself — This is what separates the men from the boys.

Second effort is the key to any great athlete — And in our book this is just another name for desire.

Sure, it's a lot of hard work but the payoff comes in September when the opening whistle reverberates through the crisp autumn air and the road to fame and glory lies ahead.

We recently received a piece of information from the Cincinnati Reds and feel it is worth passing on to our readers.

The July 9 doubleheader between the Reds and the Cubs set a new attendance record for Riverfront Stadium, when 52,116 fans turned out.

These fans also set another record when they spent $105,610 at the concession stands.

According to the Reds, 132,000 beverages, 56,000 sandwiches, 22,000 bags and boxes of peanuts and popcorn, 14,000 ice cream bars and 35,000 scorebooks, yearbooks and novelties were purchased.

Our "fearless" forecast — Columbus Bucks will take the edge off the Flint Sabers... National League will get back on the winning trail in the All-Star game.

Until next time, have a nice day — be a good sport.

Cerrudo Leads American Golf Classic; 5-Under 65

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — "Very Lucky. Very fortunate. Very pleased."

Courageous Ron Cerrudo, once one of golf's brightest young stars until sidelined with severe back trouble, kept repeating the three phrases after establishing the first round lead in the $150,000 American Golf Classic Thursday.

Cerrudo, knocked out of action for eight months because of a back operation in 1970, had just come within one stroke of matching the course record on the vast stretches of the demanding Firestone Country Club course.

His five-under-par 65, including a bogey on his last hole, on the 7,188-yard par-70 layout gave him a one-stroke margin over veteran Kermit Zarley and former PGA champion Ray Floyd.

They tied at 66 in the wilting, muggy heat that featured temperatures in the mid-90's with humidity to match.

Next at 68 was a quartet headed by threatening Arnold Palmer. Also at that figure were Mike Reasor, who caddied for Palmer in the 1966 U.S. Open, veteran R. H. Sikes and tour rookie Martin Bohen, a one time Las Vegas croupier.

Defending champion Jerry Heard could manage only a 74 and host pro Bobby Nichols was two over par at 72.

Lee Trevino, who won the British Open last week, Jack Nicklaus, Doug Sanders, Billy Casper, Tony Jacklin of England and Gary Player of South Africa are not competing.

"That's the first time in a year I've played like me," said the obviously delighted Palmer who hasn't won this season.

Palmer made an eagle three on the 500-yard second hole, hitting a three-wood second shot to about 10 feet.

Cerrudo, a husky 27-year-old from Napa, Calif., won the Cajun Classic in 1968, his rookie year. He was dubbed one of the brightest young players on the tour, a potential superstar when he won the 1970 Texas Open at San Antonio. That year his back trouble forced him out for eight months and he has never really recovered his previous form.

Three Players Now Eligible For World Series Of Golf

A stirring victory in the British Open at Muirfield, Scotland has opened the doors for a second consecutive appearance in the World Series of Golf for Lee Trevino.

Trevino's one-stroke victory over Jack Nicklaus and Tony Jacklin halted Nicklaus' bid for the Grand Slam and makes possible a $50,000 payday for the popular Texan, who will be making his third appearance in the two-day, 36-hole WSOG.

The World Series, which annually brings together the winners of the PGA, the U.S. Open, the British Open and the Masters, is scheduled for September 8-10 at the Firestone Country Club in Akron.

In winning the British Open for the second consecutive year, Trevino joins Nicklaus, winner of the Masters and the U.S. Open, and Gay Brewer, who won the Canadian Open, in the World Series field.

Brewer, who won the 1967 Masters, became eligible when Nicklaus' twin victories in the Masters and U.S. Open made necessary the use of the WSOG's first alternate rule making the Canadian Open winner eligible for the event.

Trevino first made the World Series field in 1968 when he won the U.S. Open, and he returned again last year as holder of both the U.S. and British Open titles. Only three other players, Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player, have made three or more appearances in the event, which will be televised nationally by NBC-TV.

The telecasts on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 9 and 10, will cover the final five holes of play.

Last year Trevino finished fourth in the WSOG, carding rounds of 72-74 — 146, but he was hampered by his now-famous appendectomy which forced him off the tour for the five weeks prior to the World Series.

All three players now eligible for the WSOG have played previously in the event — Nicklaus seven times, Trevino twice and Brewer once — with the fourth man to be determined at the PGA Championship, scheduled for Oakland Hills C.C. in Birmingham, Mich., August 3-6.

Total purse is $77,500, with $50,000 going to the winner, $15,000 to the runnerup, $7,500 for third place and $5,000 for fourth.

Should Nicklaus, Trevino or Brewer win the PGA Championship, the WSOG's second alternate rule, making the winner of the Western Open eligible will go into effect. The winner of the Western Open was Jim Jamieson, Moline, Ill., who has been on the tour four years. He earned $40,804 in 1971.

A stirring victory in the British Open at Muirfield, Scotland has opened the doors for a second consecutive appearance in the World Series of Golf for Lee Trevino.

Trevino's one-stroke victory over Jack Nicklaus and Tony Jacklin halted Nicklaus' bid for the Grand Slam and makes possible a $50,000 payday for the popular Texan, who will be making his third appearance in the two-day, 36-hole WSOG.

The World Series, which annually brings together the winners of the PGA, the U.S. Open, the British Open and the Masters, is scheduled for September 8-10 at the Firestone Country Club in Akron.

In winning the British Open for the second consecutive year, Trevino joins Nicklaus, winner of the Masters and the U.S. Open, and Gay Brewer, who won the Canadian Open, in the World Series field.

Brewer, who won the 1967 Masters, became eligible when Nicklaus' twin victories in the Masters and U.S. Open made necessary the use of the WSOG's first alternate rule making the Canadian Open winner eligible for the event.

Trevino first made the World Series field in 1968 when he won the U.S. Open, and he returned again last year as holder of both the U.S. and British Open titles. Only three other players, Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player, have made three or more appearances in the event, which will be televised nationally by NBC-TV.

The telecasts on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 9 and 10, will cover the final five holes of play.

Last year Trevino finished fourth in the WSOG, carding rounds of 72-74 — 146, but he was hampered by his now-famous appendectomy which forced him off the tour for the five weeks prior to the World Series.

All three players now eligible for the WSOG have played previously in the event — Nicklaus seven times, Trevino twice and Brewer once — with the fourth man to be determined at the PGA Championship, scheduled for Oakland Hills C.C. in Birmingham, Mich., August 3-6.

Total purse is $77,500, with $50,000 going to the winner, $15,000 to the runnerup, $7,500 for third place and $5,000 for fourth.

Should Nicklaus, Trevino or Brewer win the PGA Championship, the WSOG's second alternate rule, making the winner of the Western Open eligible will go into effect. The winner of the Western Open was Jim Jamieson, Moline, Ill., who has been on the tour four years. He earned $40,804 in 1971.

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — "Very Lucky. Very fortunate. Very pleased."

Courageous Ron Cerrudo, once one of golf's brightest young stars until sidelined with severe back trouble, kept repeating the three phrases after establishing the first round lead in the $150,000 American Golf Classic Thursday.

Cerrudo, knocked out of action for eight months because of a back operation in 1970, had just come within one stroke of matching the course record on the vast stretches of the demanding Firestone Country Club course.

His five-under-par 65, including a bogey on his last hole, on the 7,188-yard par-70 layout gave him a one-stroke margin over veteran Kermit Zarley and former PGA champion Ray Floyd.

They tied at 66 in the wilting, muggy heat that featured temperatures in the mid-90's with humidity to match.

Next at 68 was a quartet headed by threatening Arnold Palmer. Also at that figure were Mike Reaser, who caddied for Palmer in the 1966 U.S. Open, veteran R. H. Sikes and four rookie Martin Bohlen, a one time Las Vegas croupier.

Defending champion Jerry Heard could manage only a 74 and host pro Bobby Nichols was two over par at 72.

Lee Trevino, who won the British Open last week, Jack Nicklaus, Doug Sanders, Billy Casper, Tony Jacklin of England and Gary Player of South Africa are not competing.

"That's the first time in a year I've played like me," said the obviously delighted Palmer who hasn't won this season.

Palmer made an eagle three on the 500-yard second hole, hitting a three-wood second shot to about 10 feet.

Cerrudo, a husky 27-year-old from Napa, Calif., won the Cagun Classic in 1968, his rookie year. He was dubbed one of the brightest young players on the tour, a potential superstar when he won the 1970 Texas Open at San Antonio. That year his back trouble forced him out for eight months and he has never really recovered his previous form.

Eagleton Plans To Go After Labor Backing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas Eagleton says he hasn't given up trying to convince George Meany to back the Democratic presidential ticket and is sure most workers will vote for it anyway.

Eagleton, the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, reacted to Meany's decision Wednesday to keep the AFL-CIO neutral in the race between Sen. George McGovern and President Nixon by announcing he is broadening his search for labor support.

He vowed to go down the list of organized labor and seek the endorsements of individual labor chieftains.

"I'm excluding none and including all," he said.

And he said of Meany: "I'm not going to give up hope until Mr. Meany tells me to my face categorically and with absolute finality that under no circumstances could he ever support the McGovern-Eagleton ticket against President Nixon."

Eagleton said he will broaden his search for official support beyond the nine labor leaders he called earlier this week and will contact many he does not know personally.

Eagleton's staff announced Wednesday that his first major address of the campaign will be made before the annual convention of the Retail Clerks International Association, an AFL-CIO union.

In an interview with The Associated Press, Eagleton dismissed as a "figment of the imagination" a claim by Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird that his price for accepting the vice-presidential nomination was McGovern's endorsement of the F-15 fighter plane.

The plane is built by the McDonnell-Douglas Corp. in St. Louis, Eagleton's hometown.

Eagleton said that while he continues to support the F-15 and McGovern opposes it, the conflict poses no great cleavage of philosophy between the two candidates.

Any talk of a deal on the subject, he said, "is a complete figment of Mr. Laird's imagination."

"There's not an iota of substance to this allegation," Eagleton said. "I have not at any time discussed the F-15 with Sen. McGovern or with any member of McGovern's staff. Never. Ever."

MINI-MESSAGE

by Cecil Sagraves
ETERNITY

Eternity only comes one time to every person. Where will you spend eternity? Every person that is born of woman will spend eternity in everlasting punishment or everlasting life.

If you will please turn your Bible to Matthew 25:46. There are two words that appear here, in the King James Version, everlasting and eternal. These two words in the Greek text have the same translation.

The words everlasting and eternal have the same duration values and that is forever, ever and ever.

The Scripture plainly teaches that some people will go away into everlasting punishment, but the righteous will have everlasting life. Matthew 25:46. Any one who would deny the Scriptural fact that there is an everlasting punishment for the unsaved is just like his father the Devil. The Devil is a liar and the father of it.

If any one would like to comment on any one of these weekly mini-messages feel free to do so.

Top Film Stars Become Directors

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Question: what do performers like John Wayne, Elaine May, Peter Lawford, Robert Culp, Paul Newman, Sidney Poitier, Leonard Nimoy, Rip Torn, Jack Lemmon and Clint Eastwood have in common?

Answer: All of them have turned film director.

A few stars have tried directing once and never repeated: Marlon Brando, Frank Sinatra, Burt Lancaster, James Cagney, Most actor-directors are repeaters, even though they earn far less behind the camera than they do in front of it.

Plan Cow Chip Throwing Contest

RIVERSIDE, Iowa (AP) — They're going to let the chips fall where they may at Riverside's centennial celebration.

The three-day festivity started Thursday and one of the events is bringing the bovine back into some sort of prominence.

The celebration's feature attraction is a cow chip throwing contest.

More than 100 entries have been received in three categories — men, women and politicians.

Winners will be eligible to enter the national contest at Beaver, Okla.

Take Clint Eastwood. He stands No. 2 among the money-making stars in the Motion Picture Herald's annual poll of theater operators. Wayne is first.

Eastwood could be content to continue collecting millions for his hard-fisted, tight-lipped portrayals. Instead, he took on the added duties of directing last year's "Play Misty for Me."

Before the end of the year, he will direct two more films:

"High Plains Drifter," a western in which Eastwood will also star; and "Breezy," a contemporary story with William Holden in the leading role.

Eastwood talked about his double career before leaving for the high Sierra locations for "High Plains Drifter." He was just moving into his new offices at Universal Studio; they had formerly belonged to producer Ross Hunter.

Why do actors want to direct?

"It's a logical place for an actor to move," said the rangy actor, "unless he's content to sit in his trailer between shots and do nothing else. I was never satisfied to do that. I've always been an activist; I like the picture business and I have a great curiosity about films."

"My desire to direct goes way back to the days when I was doing 'Rawhide' on TV. The company promised me I could—and then reneged. It seems the network was being pressured by a lot of actors who wanted to direct, and it became a policy matter. I didn't have the bargaining power that I had later on."

Eastwood was able to bargain after he left "Rawhide" and became a film star through Italian-made "spaghetti westerns," starting with "A Fistful of Dollars."

"I didn't have much trouble convincing Lew Wasserman to let me direct 'Play Misty for Me' after I told him how I would do it," said Eastwood. Wasserman is the Universal Studio boss.

"I brought the picture in four days under schedule—about four and a half weeks of shooting. The actual cost of the picture was under a million dollars, so they can't really complain."

Appoint Dave Long To Board Monday

Dave Long, the newly elected member of the Westfall School Board was appointed to his position July 17 but was not in attendance at the meeting as reported in Tuesday's Herald.

Members attending and voting to employ the new principal and board member were James Dean, Mrs. Jean Lett, Bruce Stevenson Jr. and Coke Metzger.

In World War II the Japanese launched bomb-carrying balloons toward the West Coast of the United States.
